Dear Dr. Schustack and Dr. Elise,

The Human Development Department is proposing several new courses on research methods that will affect your Departments:

HD 220 Statistics in Human Development

HD 230 Research Methods in Human Development

HD 231 Action Research in Human Development

As you will see from the attached C-Forms and syllabi, the courses emphasize human services, a central focus for the Human Development Department. We would like to start running these courses in Fall 2017 and need your feedback to move forward. Please let me know your thoughts at your earliest convenience.

I'm aware that signatures will be required from me (the originator), the Human Development Department Chair (Dr. Alice Quioco), the CEHHS College Curriculum Committee, and the CEHHS Dean (Dr. Janet Powell) or Associate Dean (Dr. Denise Garcia), and these are expected to be secured soon. For now, I want to bring these proposed courses to your attention for feedback. I hope we can have your support to move forward. Please let me know if you have questions or concerns.

Thanks for you attention.

Department of Human Development: Mission Statement

The mission of the Human Development Department is to promote a holistic and lifespan understanding of human development from multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives. We:

- Explore the complex interplay of body, mind, culture, and environment that shapes developmental processes and outcomes
- Emphasize the integration of complementary and interdependent disciplines
- Employ the use of multiple perspectives and theoretical frameworks
- Advance evidence-based practices
- Promote social responsibility, civic engagement, and service to the greater community

Course Description:

Focuses on methods for conducting action research in social settings and guided by information gathering, planning, intervention, and evaluation. Emphasis on research methods for improving personal practice, human services delivery, educational practice, departmental operations, organizational effectiveness, and community wellbeing. Students will be expected to identify a topic of interest and write an action-oriented research proposal.

Course Prerequisites : HD 220

Mode of Instruction:

This course is designed to be taken “in person” during the scheduled classroom sessions, although special arrangements can be made for those who have unusual scheduling constraints. About half the classroom sessions will involve small group activities and discussions, requiring active classroom participation. Please refer to the online Cougar Course schedule for details about required readings and assignments. Prior to each class, please read the assigned readings for that week and be prepared to discuss the topics. Pop quizzes will be given during some of the classroom session, and if you are absent that day, your score for the quiz will be registered as “zero” and will be calculated in the overall score for quizzes. For each hour engaged in the classroom, please expect to spend a minimum of three hours outside of the classroom on the readings and in preparing a research proposal.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

Of the five Human Development Department Programmatic Student Learning Outcomes (PSLOs), this course contributes to the following two PSLOs:

- PSLO 4 Demonstrate understanding of research methods that are commonly used in human development scholarship and how to design, conduct and present an original research project.
- PSLO 5 Summarize the delivery of social services, including: funding, staffing, assessments, program development and evaluation.

This course will help students understand action-oriented research methods, although students will not be expected to conduct an empirical study. Action research is usually a long process, so students will be required to propose a research project, yet they will not be obligated to complete the study.

Course Student Learning Outcomes (CSLOs) -- Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of the various ways that action research is conducted in human service settings.
2. Identify a challenge in a human service setting and describe factors associated with contributing to it.
3. Describe collaborative approaches for planning culturally appropriate assessments and interventions.
4. Demonstrate an understanding of the legal and ethical implications for implementing intervention approaches.
5. Understand methods for collecting and analyzing data in the context of problem solving.
6. Design a proposal for conducting an action research project.
7. Apply dominant theories from relevant literature on a problem/challenge of special interest.

Required Texts:

Students are expected to read the assigned readings ahead of time and be prepared to discuss them during the classroom session. Please see the schedule of topics below for dates. The two following sources are required reading. The first can be found in the CSUSM Bookstore and the second will be provided for free via Open Access.

Stringer, E. T. (2013). Action Research, Sage Publications.

Beaulieu, R. (2013). Action Research: Trends and Variations, Canadian Journal of Action Research, 14, 3, 29-39.

Recommended Materials:

Feel free to use educational technology during classroom sessions to access Cougar Courses and take notes, however, please do not take photographs or record anyone without their written informed consent. Please also consider getting a copy of the APA Manual, though it is not required:

American Psychological Association. (2010). Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, Washington, DC: Author. This source will be helpful for learning about writing standards and manuscript formatting.

Attendance Policy:

Attendance is required. If you are not able to attend a class, please email the instructor as soon as possible. Pop quizzes will be given periodically and missing one by being absent will result in a score of “zero” for that particular quiz.

Course Requirements and Point System:

Your grade for this course will be determined by the following requirements. See the course schedule for the related due dates.

Pop Quizzes 10 points	Periodic quizzes will be presented to test your understanding of action research concepts. These will be pop quizzes, so actual dates will not be announced, requiring you to attend each class. Together, these quizzes will be worth 10% of the overall grade for the course; each missed quiz will be logged as “zero” and will be calculated in the total outcome score for quizzes. The quiz questions will reflect the objectives described above, including understanding research methods commonly used in human development scholarship and how to design, conduct and present an original research project (PSLO 4). You will also be required to demonstrate understanding of human services, including delivery, funding, staffing, assessments, and program development and evaluation (PSLO 5).
Independent Research Proposal 50 points signature assignment	Students will be expected to write an independent proposal for conducting action research in a human service setting (CSLOs 1, 6). You are not expected to do empirical research; instead, you merely have to propose a study. Your Independent Research Proposal must include the following components: a problem statement (CSLO 2); a description of the research setting and context of the study (CSLOs 1, 3); a goal statement (CSLO 6); a timeline for conducting the preliminary stages of research (CSLOs 1, 3); details about the participants and stakeholders; and methodological details on how data can be collected and analyzed (CSLO 5). Keeping the course objectives in mind, you will be expected to show awareness of how to set goals for a health and human services career (CSLO 8), paying attention to assessment, intervention (CSLO 3), ethics, professional standards (CSLO 4), and self-care. Research proposals must contain details about collaboration, defining problems/challenges, planning and implementing intervention and assessing progress (CSLO 3), plus drawing from relevant literature to inform practice (CSLO 7). Following the University-wide writing requirement, your proposal must be a minimum of 8 pages. The proposal will contribute 50% of your grade for the course. Please see the attached rubric for information on how the it will be evaluated.

In-Class and Homework Assignments 20 points	This course will have three in-class and homework assignments that will progressively aid you in developing the Independent Research Proposal, described above. To this end, you will be provided a set of questions and writing guidelines for completing the assignments. See the scheduled topics, guiding questions, and due dates below. Your work on this portion of the course requirements will constitute 20% of your grade for the course. Assignments #1 and #2: These two assignments require you to analyze two case studies and respond to several questions (posed below). The goal of this assignment is to help you build an understanding on how to apply action research in human service settings. Two pages of writing are expected for these two assignments. Assignment #3: Your work on the third assignment will be for generating a draft of the Independent Research Proposal. Note the schedule and due dates below. Your writing for this assignment will contribute to the writing requirement for the Independent Research Proposal.
Oral Presentation 20 points	Students will be expected to do an oral presentation of their Independent Research Proposal during the last week of the course. Presentations must conform to the elements of the proposal, such as the problem statement, research goal, etc.

Mid-Exam and Final Exam: There will be no mid-exam or final exam.

Grading System:	95 - 100% = A	70 - 74% = C+
	90 - 94% = A-	65 - 69% = C
	85 - 89% = B+	60 - 64% = C-
	80 - 84% = B	55 - 60 = D
	75 - 79% = B-	0 - 54% = F

Missing or Late Assignments:

Any missing assignment will result in a score of “zero” for that particular assignment. Missing a pop quiz will contribute no points for the quiz score, not submitting a research proposal will result in no points for that category, and not doing an oral presentation will result in no points for that category. Turning in the research proposal late will result in a deduction of 10 points for each late day.

Credit Hour Policy:

According to the “Study Time Required Outside of Class Per University” policy, you are expected to devote 2 hours of study outside of class for every unit of class. This is a 3 unit course, so you are expected to devote a minimum of 6 hours of study time per week outside the classroom. This class will meet the University Credit Hour Policy.

Writing Policy:

In accordance with the University’s “All-University Writing Requirement” students will be required to have a writing component for the class, which is to meet or surpass the minimum of 10 pages or 2,500 word requirement. Two pages will be met through homework assignments, and the remaining 8 pages will be met with the Independent Research Proposal and the draft that leads to it.

Specialized Accommodations:

Students with disabilities who require reasonable accommodations must be approved for services by the Office of Disabled Student Services (DSS). DSS is located in Craven Hall 4300, phone (760) 750-4905, TTY (760) 750-4909. For additional information, see the CSUSM DSS Student Handbook at <http://www.csusm.edu/dss/handbooks/>. Students authorized by DDS to receive accommodations or who have disability related questions should email me as soon as possible.

CSUSM Academic Honesty Policy:

Please adhere to standards of academic honesty and integrity, as outlined in the Student Academic Honesty Policy. All written work and oral presentation assignments must be original work. All ideas/materials that are borrowed from other sources must have appropriate references to the original sources. Any quoted material should give credit to the source and be punctuated with quotation marks. Students are responsible for honest completion of their work including examinations. The instructor reserves the right to discipline any student for academic dishonesty in accordance with the general rules and regulations of the university, including lowering grades and/or assigning a failing grade for an exam, assignment, or the class as a whole. Incidents of Academic Dishonesty will be reported to the Dean of Students. Sanctions at the University level may include suspension or expulsion from the University.

Expected Behavior:

Please feel free to use your laptop or other educational technology in the classroom. Do not take photos or recordings without written informed consent. Respect others, promote a safe environment, and support your colleagues.

Being Successful in this course:

Please read the assigned readings ahead of time and be prepared to discuss them in class on the scheduled dates. Three in-class assignments will be required and three corresponding homework assignments. You must be present in class to discuss the assignments, plus you must submit the homework assignments on time. Please see the scheduled topics, assignments and due dates below. Missing assignments will result in no points (“0”) for that course requirement, and late assignments will be deducted by 10 points.

Getting Help:

For technical assistance with technology, please direct questions to helpdesk@csusm.edu. Or, drop by the convenient Help Desk in the Library.

Collaboration Policy:

In-class group discussions will be required for this course. Please note the topics and dates below. Your collaboration in this course will aid you in completing homework assignments and completing the Independent Research Proposal. Homework assignments and the Independent Research Project must be written independently.
