

Conversations that Matter Series

"Our lives begin to end the day we become silent about things that matter."
Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Bindis, Blackface, Cholos, and Cornrows:

Exploring Stereotypes & Cultural Mis-appropriation

MARCH 24
12-1:30 PM
USU 2300B

A faculty panel, including Dr. Cesar Rodriguez and Caroline Sawyer, MA will use the current Beyond the Stereotype Poster campaign to discuss stereotypes and cultural mis-appropriation.

All are welcome to attend and participate in the discussion.

A light lunch will be served.

This Conversations that Matter workshop is sponsored by the Office of Diversity, Educational Equity, and Inclusion; the CHABSS Engaging Diverse Dialogues Initiative, and the Civility Campaign.
