College of Education Mission Statement
The mission of the College of Education Community is to collaboratively transform public education by preparing thoughtful educators and advancing professional practices. We are committed to diversity, educational equity, and social justice, exemplified through reflective teaching, life-long learning, innovative research and on-going service. Our practices demonstrate a commitment to student-centered education, diversity, collaboration, professionalism, and shared governance. (Adopted by COE Governance Community, October, 1997).

Course Description
Students will be able to deepen the learning process of the symposium. Each student will be required to do additional research and describe in writing how they will apply their learning from the symposium to their research, work and/or profession. Students will take the specific activities from the symposium to the next level and make a difference in the name of social justice and equity in our colleges, university, local PK-12 schools and the greater community.

This is a 15 hour- hybrid course with 8 and ½ hours face-to-face at the Symposium and 6 and ½ hours doing independent research and writing.

By attending The Second Annual Social Justice & Equity Symposium sessions on April 10, 2009, participants will learn how the following topics are related to social justice and equity;
- Calling Racism Out: Building Support for Anti-racism
- Histories of Local Asian and Pacific Islanders
- Physics Outreach to Underrepresented Groups
- What’s your Facebook Status?
- Student Activism
- Children’s Literature & Social Justice
- Escondido Human Rights Committee
- Social Justice in Middle School
- Environmentalism
- Integrated Thematic Unit on "North County" Play

Intended Audience: Undergraduate and graduate students are the core audience for this course. It is an opportunity to earn credit for professional development related to social justice and equity.

Course Objectives
Enduring Understandings
Students will understand social justice and equity and it’s application to their work. Students will be able to apply the knowledge gained from attending symposium sessions to articulate the strategies they will develop to apply to their work and profession.

Essential Questions
- How does social justice and equity apply to your work or profession?
- How can you apply something that you learned from the symposium to your work or profession?
- What resources can assist you in this application?

Read the syllabus: It is a contract between you and the instructor.
- How can you cite these resources using American Psychology Association Style 6th Edition?

Required Texts & Visual Arts
Resources provided at each session of symposium.

Course Schedule
Week 1 – Social Justice & Equity Symposium – April 10, 2009 8:30 am – 4:00 pm
Week 2 – Independent Research
Week 3 – Independent Writing
Week 4 – Application Paper Due April 27, 2009

Assessment
Participants will submit a 6-10 page paper articulating how they will apply the knowledge gained from attending symposium sessions to specific strategies they will develop for application in their work and profession.

As part of the assignment, students will need to show support for their ideas and cite 2-5 references using American Psychology Association Style 6th Edition. This part of the assignment will require research in addition to attending the symposium.

The assignment will be judged on:
- Content
- Application of social justice and equity
- APA style citations
- Length/Brevity of the paper
- Organization and writing presentation
