PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Emotional intelligence (EI) accounts for more than 50% of workplace success. Leaders at all levels are required to connect with others and inspire action to achieve results. Key requirements to leading successfully are self-awareness, strong interpersonal skills, staying present and focused in the midst of uncertainty and resiliency. You will receive a personalized EQ-I 2.0 in this program to help guide your self-development. This course will provide practical tools and strategies to motivate and engage your team, deepen collaborative relationships, and help you act in authentic ways to increase your leadership effectiveness.

COURSE AUDIENCE

This program is ideal for leaders who have at least one direct report or who lead cross-functional teams and have responsibilities for influencing others. The program targets mid-to-director level leaders and who have a foundation in managing others.
