

Master of Arts in Sociological Practice Curriculum

A full-time MASP student takes the following classes over the course of two years:

	Fall	Spring
Year 1	Proseminar in Sociological Practice (Soc 501)	Quantitative Methods (Soc 620)
	Research Process (Soc 515)	Critical Perspectives on Service Delivery (Soc 630)
	Sociological Theory and Public Policy (Soc 610)	Seminar
Year 2	Thesis Proposal (Soc 690)	Sociological Advocacy (Soc 640)
	Qualitative Methods (Soc 575)	Thesis Writing (Soc 695)
	Seminar	Seminar

A part-time student takes the following classes over the course of three years:

	Fall	Spring
Year 1	Proseminar in Sociological Practice (Soc 501)	Quantitative Methods (Soc 620)
	Research Process (Soc 515)	Seminar
Year 2	Sociological Theory (Soc 610)	Critical Perspectives (Soc 630)
	Seminar	Sociological Advocacy (Soc 640)
Year 3	Thesis Proposal (Soc 690)	Thesis (Soc 695)
	Qualitative Methods (Soc 575)	Seminar

Seminars

* Seminars are 500- or 600-level MASP courses.

- * If permission is given, students may take one 400-level undergraduate sociology course in lieu of a graduate-level seminar. The substitute class also needs to be four units.
- * Additionally, if permission is given, students can take one 600-level independent study course in lieu of a graduate-level seminar.