

Join us for exciting virtual opportunities this fall and winter!
Free Workshops supported by ESSER funding:

- Oct. 16, 2021 9:00-10:30: “Encouraging Writing Improvement Through Growth Matrices” with Sierra Zounes: Learn to use growth matrices to promote focused writing improvement in specific areas and help students avoid the “one and done” mentality. This systematic process guides students through metacognitive reflection about their writing where they learn how to identify their struggles, self-evaluate, assign personal growth steps, and receive teacher feedback.
- Oct. 30, 2021 9:00-10:30: “The Ultimate Classroom Magazine Project” with Harmony Bell. Let's give students a sense of autonomy by allowing their creative voices to be heard! Learn how students can use multiple genres of writing to collaborate on an engaging classroom magazine.
- Nov. 6, 2021, 10-11:30: Dr. Gholdy Muhammad, author of Cultivating Genius: An Equity Framework for Culturally and Historically Responsive Literacy: Dr. Gholdy Muhammad will demonstrate researched-based culturally and historically responsive equity practices and offer pedagogical examples of lesson and unit plans.
- November 13, 2021 9:00-10:30 “Apply Dr. Gholdy Muhammad’s Cultivating Genius framework to your curriculum” led by SMWP Teacher Leaders Kriscia Cabral and Cathy Lachel. Teacher leaders who have applied Dr. Muhammad’s framework to their curriculum will share their examples and support teachers in developing their own applications.
- Feb. 12, 2022 10-12: “Getting started with Project Based Learning” with Dr. John Spencer

Register for workshops here or at: bit.ly/39OqJdo

Zoom link will be sent to your email the week before the workshops.

Questions? Email Laurie Stowell: lstowell@csusm.edu